

By DENNISON, I mean to refer to this surname generically, to include at least those named Den[n]is[t]on, but also reasonably close soundalikes which might turn up. These abstracts were drawn from the Ancestry.com's online USCensus images database, and rely on the index thereof, searched on "Deniston"(Soundex) and "Denison"(Soundex), though in view of the inherent deficiencies of indexes I have also searched a few census sections page by page. A few other surname than DENNISON are included, where possible close relatives or in-laws appear on the same or an adjacent page of a non-alphabetized list (alphabetized lists are identified by "alpha FLS" where the list includes multiple DENNISONs).

The DENNISON households abstracted here are complete for 1790-1820 for Pennsylvania, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, and Indiana.. Omitted are the few DENNISONs in the Carolinas (all in the eastern counties) and in the first extant census for Georgia in 1820..

The New England DENNISONs are clustered principally in coastal Connecticut (especially New London and Saybrook), and for the mid-Atlantic states, in the New York counties of Orange and Ulster on the eastern border of Pennsylvania. A few of these families may have bled into Pennsylvania or points south, but I expect only a very few; for the most part, those inclined to wester had already staked out territory closer to the frontier by 1820. When the DENNISON DNA Project begins to accumulate DENNISONs from these other areas, this report will be supplemented by the corresponding abstracts.

Since the USCensuses for the important state of Virginia are lost for 1790 and 1800, I've included a complete set of abstracts of the virtually complete 1787 Virginia county tax lists; included here also are the counties which later belonged to Kentucky and West Virginia.

ABSTRACTING CONVENTIONS

The abstracts appear by decade below from the oldest to the most recent censuses, and for each census year are sorted by state, county, town(ship), and then in order of their meta page numbers and line number on the page.

Abbreviations and other abstracting and citation conventions are more fully explained in "My USCensus Abstracting Conventions".

The 1790 and 1800 USCensuses for Virginia are lost. The 1787 Virginia personal property tax lists, which are virtually complete for all counties, have been compiled and are widely used as a 1790 USCensus surrogate. All the DENNISON entries for this tax year are included below. In addition I have compiled the DENNISONs found on tax lists for many other counties off the early federal period.

As it happens, since my original reading of it, this Ancestry image has become illegible.]
